

FINAL THESISCredits: 15 ECTSBrief description of the contents:

- Development and writing of a final report based on a research project or an internship, about any topic related to aquaculture and/or fisheries. Presentation and defence in front of panel of judges
- Previous aspects: selection of research topic or internship place; selection of the most adequate methodology, techniques and models;
- Development of a final project about integrated water management, under the supervision of a director or supervisor. Presentation and defence in front of a panel of judges
- Previous aspects: research topic selection; selection and application of most adequate methodology, techniques and models; establishment of the work plan, the structure and objectives (together with the hypotheses in the case of a scientific research project)
- Development of research work at a research centre and/or internship at a company or institution (public or private), in which coastal management activities are taken place
- Planning of technical/scientific report (structure and initial writing)
- Final writing of the report
- Preparation of presentation and oral defence in front of a panel of judges